

Assumption:

- Each theater on one location has many shows. One location has many theaters.
- Making a shedule for each movie. One movie has multiple schedules.
- The schedule indicates the date, show time, and show on which the movie will be shown.
- There is a title, rating, rating description and a release date for each movie.
- Each theater has many positions for employees.
- One position has many employees and one employee can be assigned many positions.
- A ticket includes show, theater, price, start date, and employee who entered information into system.

